Terms of Quote

1. Kindly note that this quotation is valid for just 10 days after your receipt of it.
2. The customer is required to make a deposit of 70% of the total cost of the installation before the commencement of the installation. The remaining 30% is expected to be paid at the completion of the installation.
3. Where (2) above is violated, be informed that A6GNL™ reserves the right to withdraw its services and retrieve the already installed components, gadgets or equipment from the installation site either fully or in part.
4. The installation gadgets, components or equipment may be covered by a warranty policy as allowed by the manufacturers of such gadget, component or equipment. Where this is ascertained to exist in relation to a gadget, component or equipment to be used in your installation, rest assured that it shall be applied to you.
5. Where the product you acquire from us requires maintenance and support, we hereby guarantee that we will give you lifetime maintenance and technical support which shall be free for the first 3 months after installation.
6. As our customer, gadgets, components or equipment bought from us can be traded in for a better, more advanced and latest version or form of such gadget, component or equipment provided that such gadget, component or equipment to be traded in has been accessed to be in good condition and the monetary value at such point in time agreed to by both parties.
7. Once payment for either goods or services is made, there shall be no refund whatsoever.
8. If payment is partly made for an installation and the customer is not able to complete the payment within a period of 3 months from the date of the initial payment, such customer forfeits the amount paid. Where the entire job or part of it has been carried out by us, the customer in such situations forfeits ownership to such job.
9. Once payment is made for a job and such job is executed in accordance with our agreement with such client, there shall be no return for refund.
